

BRAND GUIDELINES

A playful, bold identity system for GOYO Games.

VERSION 1.0 • 2026

Brand essence

A simple system built around energy, play and recognisable shapes.

GOYO

Games that feel simple to enter,
fun to master.

THE CORE IDEA

Playful confidence without visual noise.

- Make every interaction feel inviting.
- Use bold shapes and clear hierarchy.
- Let orange create moments of action.

Five words to guide every touchpoint

If a design does not feel like these words, simplify it.

PLAYFUL

BOLD

CREATIVE

ENERGETIC

FRIENDLY

Logo system

Use the version that creates the strongest contrast and clearest recognition.

PRIMARY / PURPLE

DARK / ORANGE

REVERSE / CREAM

Clear space & minimum size

Keep the logo visually independent from nearby elements.

The logo consists of the word "GOYO" in a bold, dark purple, sans-serif font, with the "O"s being slightly larger and more rounded. Below it, the word "Games" is written in a smaller, dark purple, sans-serif font, with wide letter spacing. The entire logo is centered within a light orange rounded rectangle, which is itself centered within a larger white rounded rectangle. A thin orange border surrounds the light orange rectangle.

Minimum clear space = 1× the height of “Games”

MINIMUM DIGITAL SIZE

120 px

Use larger wherever possible.
Never sacrifice legibility.

What not to do

Consistency is more valuable than adding effects.

DON'T STRETCH

Preserve the original proportions.

DON'T RECOLOR

Use approved palette combinations.

DON'T ADD EFFECTS

No shadows, bevels or glows.

DON'T CROWD

Respect the clear-space rule.

Core color palette

Three signature colors create the GOYO visual rhythm.

RGB 77 / 25 / 77

RGB 255 / 123 / 0

RGB 255 / 241 / 230

RGB 0 / 0 / 0

RGB 255 / 255 / 255

Recommended CMYK values are production approximations; use HEX/RGB for digital and convert using your print profile for final artwork.

Color balance

Cream is the canvas. Purple owns the brand. Orange creates action.

CREAM / 55%

PURPLE / 30%

ORANGE / 15%

Use orange as a signal, not as a background everywhere.

Typography system

Two fonts. Clear roles. Strong contrast.

DISPLAY / HEADLINES

Lilita One

Use for titles, section labels and short statements.

BODY / UI / SUPPORT

Quicksand Medium

Use for body copy,
labels, UI and longer explanatory text.

Hierarchy & sizing

A simple scale keeps every brand touchpoint coherent.

DISPLAY	Lilita One	40–56 pt	Campaigns / covers
H1	Lilita One	28–36 pt	Slide & page titles
H2	Lilita One	20–26 pt	Section titles
BODY	Quicksand Medium	12–18 pt	Explanatory copy
UI / LABEL	Quicksand Medium	9–12 pt	Buttons / metadata

Shape & corner system

Soft geometry makes the brand feel friendly and game-native.

Primary radius: 24–32 px • Secondary radius: 12–16 px • Avoid sharp decorative geometry.

Art & imagery direction

Let the game content be expressive while the brand frame stays disciplined.

DO

- Use energetic crops.
- Show gameplay context.
- Keep overlays minimal.
- Prefer clean focal points.

AVOID

- Visual clutter.
- Too many effects.
- Competing type.
- Generic stock imagery.

+ clear CTA
+ one accent color

UI RULES

- High contrast.
- Short labels.
- Orange = action.
- Avoid visual overload.

Social media framework

Use a repeatable composition so GOYO is recognisable before the logo is read.

Tone of voice

The writing should sound like a confident game studio, not a corporate manual.

SOUND LIKE

- Clear, not complicated.
- Confident, not arrogant.
- Playful, not childish.
- Energetic, not noisy.

EXAMPLE

“Ready?
Let's play.”

Short sentences. Strong verbs. Human energy.

GOYO at a glance

A fast review before anything goes live.

DO

- Use the core palette.
- Use Lilita One for display.
- Use Quicksand for support.
- Keep shapes rounded.
- Use orange as an accent.

DON'T

- Add random colors.
- Mix unrelated typefaces.
- Over Decorate the logo.
- Use cluttered compositions.
- Turn every element orange.
